

Product Overview

In the new economy, people work with their brains instead of their hands, while communications technology creates global competition. Innovation is more important than mass production. Investment buys new concepts or the means to create them, rather than new machines. And rapid change is a constant.

The new economy is different from what came before it as the industrial age was from its agricultural predecessor. It is so different that its emergence can only be described as a revolution. Free markets are central to it. In short, the new economy is about the unprecedented power of global markets to innovate, to create new wealth and to distribute it more fairly, while markets continue to change profoundly.

DataOn Corporation provides the answers to stay ahead in the new economy with this range of innovative solutions:
